Effective Date:

This version supersedes all previous policy and practices related to Harassment Policy. This policy is effective 1st February 2014

Background

KOJ Group LLC recognizes that all employees have a right to work in an environment in which the dignity of individuals is respected and which is free from harassment and bullying. It is committed to eliminating intimidation in any form.

The Policy applies to harassment on the grounds of disability, gender, marital status, sexual orientation, age, creed, colour, race or ethnic origin.

Harassment breaches KOJ Group LLC's belief and culture. Policy and it is classified as a serious offence which may result in summary dismissal under the Disciplinary Procedure

Scope

All employees under the umbrella of the "Group" are governed by this policy.

Policy and Procedure

Harassment has no definition in law but is generally described as "unwanted conduct which affects the dignity of women or men at work; it encompasses unwelcome physical, verbal or non-verbal behaviour which denigrates or ridicules or is intimidatory". The essential characteristic of harassment is that the action(s) is unwanted by the recipient.

The following interpretations and examples of harassment may be helpful in determining whether harassment has taken place.

General Harassment

"Harassment can take many forms because of their age, sexual orientation, physical or mental disability or some other characteristic. It may involve action, behaviour, comment or physical contact which is found objectionable or which causes offence; it can result in the recipient feeling threatened, humiliated or patronized and it can create an intimidating work environment."

Sexual Harassment

"Sexual harassment can be defined as an uninvited, unreciprocated and unwelcome behaviour of a sexual nature which is offensive to the person involved and causes that person to feel threatened, humiliated or embarrassed. Examples of sexual harassment are:

- Requests for sexual favours, including implied or overt promises of preferential treatment or threats concerning present or future employment status;
- Offensive gestures or comments;

- Sexually-orientated jibes, innuendo or jokes;
- Unwanted physical contact;
- The display of ANY offensive visual material such as calendars, photographs, books or videos.

Sexual harassment may be experienced by men or women as a result of the conduct of men or women. It applies equally regardless level of job and may also occur when dealing with external clients and/or members of the public.

Racial or Sectarian Harassment

"In the workplace, racial or sectarian harassment may take the form of actual or threatened physical abuse or it may involve offensive jokes, verbal abuse, language, graffiti or literature of a racist or sectarian nature or offensive remarks about a person's skin colour, physical characteristics or religion. It may also include repeated exclusion of a person from an ethnic or religious minority from conversations, patronizing remarks, unfair allocation of work or pressure about the speed and/or quality of their work in a way which differs from the treatment of other employees."

Bullying is the intimidation or belittling of someone through the misuse of power or position which leaves the recipient feeling hurt, upset, vulnerable or helpless. It is often inextricably linked to the areas of harassment described above.

The following are examples of bullying:

- Unjustified criticism of an individual's personal or professional performance, shouting at an individual, criticizing an individual in front of others.
- Spreading malicious rumours or making malicious allegations.
- Intimidation or ridicule of individuals with disabilities and /or learning difficulties.
- Ignoring or excluding an individual from the team / group.

Responsibilities of Managers

Every manager has an obligation to prevent harassment / bullying and to take immediate action once it has been identified, whether or not a complaint has been made.

Allegations of harassment or bullying, received either informally or formally through the Grievance Procedure, must be dealt with promptly and sensitively.

It is important that managers recognise that sexual harassment is any sexual advance unwanted by the recipient or behaviour which causes offence to the recipient. Similarly, racial harassment is behaviour which is racially offensive to the recipient. Managers must therefore take care to ensure that they do not pre-judge situations based on their own sexual or racial attitudes and perceptions.

It may not always be appropriate for a line manager to be involved with specific complaints. For example, if the complainant is male and wishes to speak to a male, but the manager is female, or, if the complaint relates to the conduct of the line manager.

Responsibilities of All Employees

Every employee has a personal responsibility NOT to harass or bully other members of staff.

An employee who becomes aware of harassment or bullying occurring should bring the matter to the attention of his/her manager or HR Department.

Redress

An employee who feels that he/she has been harassed or bullied has a right to seek redress via the procedures set out.

Procedure for Dealing with Harassment

An employee who feels that he/she is being subjected to harassment or bullying may attempt to resolve the matter informally in the first instance. In some cases it may be possible and sufficient for him/her to explain clearly to the person(s) engaged in the unwanted activities that the behaviour is unwelcome, that it offends or makes him/her uncomfortable.

- If at the initial informal discussion stage the circumstances are too difficult or embarrassing to approach the harasser alone, the complainant may wish to be accompanied by a friend or colleague;
- The complainant may wish to write a letter to the HR Department
- The complainant should keep a record of any incidents, detailing when, where, what occurred, and witnesses (if any);
- In some cases victims of harassment or bullying may not be sufficiently confident to tell the harasser that his or her behaviour is unacceptable. KOJ Group LLC emphasizes therefore that staff are not required to approach the harasser in an attempt to resolve the problem informally, and are entitled to report the matter immediately if they so wish.

Where the steps outlined above are unsuccessful or inappropriate, the complainant should raise the matter informally and in confidence with his/her manager. Alternatively, the matter may be raised with the HR Department or line manager of the same sex as the complainant.

If the complaint relates to the conduct of the complainant's manager, the complainant may choose to discuss the matter with his/her manager's line manager.

The Line Manager or HR Person will discuss the matter with the complainant and agree a course of action. The complainant may be accompanied by a representative or colleague at these meetings. The alleged harasser will also have the right to state their version of events to the manager and to also be accompanied by colleague.

The complainant must be assured that he/she will not be discriminated against or victimized for raising the complaint. Confidentiality will be observed throughout and the need for any disclosure of the details of the case will be discussed and agreed.

At any stage of the process the complainant, the manager dealing with the complaint or the accused may feel that they need the help of an independent person before deciding on the best course of action. KOJ Group LLC will provide a network of trained persons, who can give confidential advice and assistance, including:

- Advising on the nature of harassment;
- Offering guidance on resolving harassment problems, including acting as an independent broker.
- Advising on the use of KOJ Group LLC's Grievance Procedure.

These individuals will generally be employees of KOJ Group LLC HRD, however KOJ Group LLC will also maintain an individual who is external to KOJ Group LLC should that be more appropriate for the individual who requires assistance.

If the situation cannot be resolved informally then the complainant has the right to pursue his or her complaint formally via KOJ Group LLC's Grievance Procedure.

Where there is evidence that harassment has occurred, prompt and corrective action will be taken, including disciplinary action where appropriate. Harassment is a serious offence which may result in summary dismissal.

Communication

All employees will be informed of the Harassment Policy and Procedure. They must be re-assured regarding:

- Fear that others will consider the behaviour trivial and not take complaints of harassment seriously;
- Fear that no action will be taken against a person guilty of harassment;
- Fear of retaliation or victimisation in registering a complaint either informally or formally through the Grievance Procedure.

The Harassment Policy and Procedure will be in staff induction programme, with a summary in the Employee Handbook.

Monitoring and Review

In order to assess the effectiveness of the Procedure, statistics will be maintained in respect of the complaints of harassment. Strict confidentiality will be maintained

The Human Resources Department will be responsible for reviewing the Policy and Procedure one year after implementation and bi-annually thereafter.

Maintenance and amendment of the policy

As with all Group policies (the "Group") may amend this policy at its discretion at any time.
